

Parent Resources while Working and Learning at Home - # 1

Educational websites that will engage your children and actually let you work for an hour (or two!)

	Khan Academy	Khan Academy is a non-profit educational organization created in 2008 by Salman Khan with the goal of creating a set of FREE online tools that help educate students. It provides lessons K-12 in all content, often in the form of short videos. In response to the large number of school closings, the site provides daily lesson schedules for students ages 4-18 to keep them learning. The website also includes supplementary practice exercises and materials for educators.
	Virtual School Activities	Virtual School Activities is a collection of sites ranging across live webcams, virtual tours/trips, and other miscellaneous fun educational sites. This site is a collaborative effort across the nation; it is updated every few days, so be sure to refresh the site if you're a return visitor to see the latest links.
	Art for Kids Hub	This YouTube Channel offers hundreds of step-by-step drawing videos of pictures your kids will actually love. The teacher is so friendly and engaging. You can watch hundreds of free YouTube Videos or subscribe to the app for a small fee each month.
	Crash Course YouTube Videos	This YouTube page offers hundreds of engaging, fast-paced "Crash Courses" on every topic imaginable. Each video is about 15 minutes, and your kids can choose any topic that interests them!
