

Keeping In Touch with Students and Each Other Remotely:

MISIC Resources for YOU – Teachers and Administrators

Never underestimate the power of video conversations. For both teachers and students, being able to see each other's faces makes all the difference in feeling connected. WeChat, Zoom, Skype, FaceTime - whatever works.

@klbeasley Keri-Lee Beasley

There are many ways to keep in personal touch with your students and peers. Zoom is one tool that allows multiple users to be online together and communicate remotely.

This document highlights one tool – Zoom. Below is a link to how to get access to Zoom for free and some tips for using it.

Free Video Conferencing: Zoom

Students or teachers who fill out an online form using their school email addresses and are then verified by Zoom will have any accounts associated with that school's domain also gain unlimited temporary meeting minutes, according to a site set up for the process overnight.

Resources for Using Zoom

- Download a guide for using Zoom on an iPad
- Watch video tutorials and live training on the Zoom Help Center.
- Zoom unifies cloud video conferencing, simple online meetings, and group messaging into one easy-to-use platform. Follow this article to learn about the basic features of the Zoom client on Windows and Mac.
- Live Zoom Training Daily: Sessions specifically highlighting Zoom Meetings for Education (Students & Educators), focusing on using Zoom Meetings as your classroom setting. Zoom Webinar training is also available.
- Recorded Zoom Training: Watch previously recorded sessions on demand and at your convenience.
- Tips for instructors: Check out this Twitter thread from USC Ph.D. student and online instructor Alana Kennedy on some of the most useful features and best practices for teaching over Zoom.

By providing links to other sites, MISIC does not guarantee or endorse the information or products available on these sites.

