

How to Help for Teaching Online

Use these resources for tips in getting started and refining your online teaching practices

	Tips from Teaching Channel	This collection from Teaching Channel provides tips for those in the process of modifying courses to an online platform. The first article highlights 7 practices to help you smoothly transition your courses for instructional continuity.
	Zoom Tutorial	Zoom is one of the easiest platforms to use for video conferencing. Tutorials, tips, and demos are all provided for how to use Zoom most effectively.
	All About Google Classroom	For those who want to learn more about using Google classroom, this site provides support for how to organize teaching and learning and communicate with your students.
	Do's and Don'ts of Distance Learning	This article from the director of FutureEd, affiliated with Georgetown University, provides tips for navigating the transition to online learning. "The more we can simplify things, the better."
	Resources for Teaching & Learning while Social Distancing	This article emphasizes that a positive attitude and a flexible mindset are key to making the online transition as smooth as possible.

Need More Resources? Check out www.misicimpact.org.

By providing links to other sites, MISIC does not guarantee or endorse the information or products available on these sites.

Resources Compiled by MISIC – www.misicimpact.org

How to Help for Teaching Online