

Parent Resources - Focus on Teens

Websites that will engage your teens in learning

	Best Ted Talks for Teens Ted Talks to Watch with Kids	Ted Talks can teach our kids important life lessons and help them to understand themselves and the world around them a little better. They are almost always inspirational and some can even be laugh-out-loud funny. The second link is a playlist specifically picked for teens and tweens.
	Daily Book Study for Teens	In order to help middle school and high school students continue practicing their reading and writing skills, Iowa Reading Research Center has launched a Book Study with daily assignments for teens to read and respond to sections of a book for teens. Yours can catch up on Facebook.
	Virtual School Activities	This is a collection of sites featuring live webcams, virtual tours/trips, and other miscellaneous fun educational sites. The site is updated every few days, so to see the latest links be sure to refresh the site as you return to it.
	Math Central	Run by the University of Regina in Canada, this site offers free resources for math teachers and their students, including a database where users can search for the answers to math questions. Their Mathematics with a Human Face page includes information about careers in mathematics as well as profiles of mathematicians.

Need More Resources? Check out www.misicimpact.org.

By providing links to other sites, MISIC does not guarantee or endorse the information or products available on these sites.